

Foxglove Manor

Whitchurch, Oxfordshire

Client: Private

Architect: Day Tanner

Quantity Surveyor: J Gunn

Duration: 56 weeks

Value: £3.5m

Case Study

Design and construction of the structure and external elevations including drainage and service connections of a prestigious single dwelling at Whitchurch, Oxon.

The works included brickwork, cedar cladding and specialist render finishes to external walls along with roof construction, waterproof finishes and brass windows and doors to provide a watertight shell.

The bespoke fit out contained and provided a mix of traditional high quality finishes, fixings and furnishings.

The drive to uphold the high quality of the project was maintained with no effort spared to complete the finishes. This aspect of the build commenced during the design phase, where we had significant input.

